Pre-Journalism Advising Workshops

FIRST SEMESTER FRESHMEN ONLY!

SIGN UP AT: <http://evaluate.coas.missouri.edu/student/>

PRE-JOURNALISM ADVISING WORKSHOPS BEGIN SEPT. 28, 2009

Academic Exploration and Advising Services (AEAS) now requires all first semester pre-journalism students to attend an advising workshop before meeting with an academic advisor to discuss spring classes.

The advising sessions are designed to help pre-journalism students know what to register for in spring 2010 and to understand degree requirements for the School of Journalism.

There are more than 20 sessions to choose from between Sept. 28-Nov. 11. To view workshop dates, times and locations, students need to access <http://evaluate.coas.missouri.edu/student/> and then select a session that fits with their schedule.

Advisors will discuss pre-sequence requirements, the Journalism application process, helpful hints to be successful during the first two years of study, as well as answer questions about math and foreign language placement. Students may find the advising session provides all of the information they need to create their spring class schedules. It is necessary for students to bring their Journalism Handbook to the session.

If pre-journalism students do not attend an advising session and have post-session questions, they must wait until early registration ends to meet with an academic advisor, which will be in the middle of November.

Do You Know Your “Enrollment Appointment” Time?

First semester freshmen often are confused by the term “Enrollment Appointment” time on the myZou system and believe they have an in-person appointment with their advisor on that day. “Enrollment Appointment” simply means this is the time students can register themselves for classes on the myZou system.

Students need to call AEAS at (573) 884-9700 to schedule an appointment, if needed, after attending an advising workshop. Advisor schedules fill up quickly so students should make an appointment as early as possible after their advising session.

If students cannot see their advisor before their enrollment appointment, they should still register themselves for classes on that date and time. Then, add/drop appropriately later on. Waiting to register will affect course availability — courses fill quickly! Students can view their enrollment appointment time by accessing myZou.missouri.edu and clicking on Student Service Center.
